

Picture: ©Alice Blogg www.aliceblogg.co.uk

Trees of life

A rounded view of British wood

Whether you're looking at British wood for design & construction, timber windows, staircases and doors, for individually-made items, or for woodfuel, there's a suitable species of British-grown timber for you.

For architects, specifiers and makers wanting to use British hardwoods, our Grown in Britain licensed producers, sawmillers and timber merchants can provide you with a rounded view of the options available. Using British-grown timber also gives something back to rural and local economies here at home, supporting jobs and helping the UK's mandatory carbon reduction targets. In this season of goodwill, make sure you source licensed, British-grown wood. It supports many kinds of 'life'.

'Old Chestnuts' series by Grown in Britain

Grown in Britain connects producers of British timber and wood products to markets in construction, joinery, shopfitting, furniture and retail. Using British timber fosters social value, creating economic, social and environmental outcomes across the country, benefitting local economies and employment, and contributing to national CO₂ reduction targets. We encourage woodlands back into management, promoting woodland creation and stimulating supply. We also foster public appreciation of the value of Britain's forests & woodlands.

